

RIGHT OF ACCESS TO INFORMATION ACT, 2017

A public body shall not be required to disclose information which would, or is likely to, cause damage to the national security, defense, public order, international relations, or if it relates to third-party commercial interests, or if it constitutes private personal data, unless the public interest in disclosure outweighs the harm.

Section 14. Time limit for responding

The designated officer shall, as soon as possible but in any case within ten working days of the receipt of the request, either provide the information or reject the request. Provided that this period may be extended by another ten working days if written reasons are supplied to the applicant.
